

Draft — not yet reviewed by a lawyer. This describes accurately how cancellations and refunds work in the software. Consumer law where you operate may give customers rights beyond it. See “Before this page goes live” at the foot.

Refunds & Cancellations

Last updated 29 September 2026

The short version

The restaurant you ordered from takes the payment and issues any refund. Zenoeats does not hold your money and cannot refund it for them. Contact the restaurant first.

Before you have paid

Nothing is charged until you complete payment. If you leave checkout, the order is discarded automatically after about 30 minutes and no money moves.

After you have paid

Food is prepared to order and usually starts being made as soon as the payment clears, so a paid order generally cannot be cancelled.

If you need to try, phone the restaurant straight away. If they have not started your food they may agree to cancel and refund it. That is their decision.

If something is wrong with your order

Contact the restaurant. They can put right:

- food that is missing, wrong, or not what was described;
- food that arrived cold, late, or not at all;

- an order they could not fulfil after taking payment.

The restaurant's phone number is on your order page and in every email about your order. For a pickup order, its address is shown at checkout and in the email telling you the order is ready.

How a refund reaches you

Refunds go back to the card you paid with. They cannot be sent anywhere else. Once the restaurant issues one, it is credited to your original payment method within 10 to 14 business days.

Your order page here shows the refund and its amount once the restaurant issues it.

If you cannot reach the restaurant

If the restaurant does not respond, email PLACEHOLDER@example.com with your order number. Zenoeats can contact them on your behalf and make sure the complaint reaches someone. Zenoeats cannot issue the refund itself.

Card disputes

You can dispute a charge with your bank. The dispute goes to the restaurant, since the payment was taken on the restaurant's account and they are the merchant of record. Talking to the restaurant first is almost always faster.

Privacy Policy Terms of Service Data Deletion Back to the menu

Before this page goes live, a lawyer needs to confirm: the consumer cancellation rights that apply to prepared food where you operate, which may give a right to cancel that "generally cannot be cancelled" above would contradict; the response commitment implied by the "cannot reach the restaurant" route, which needs a monitored mailbox and a person behind it; and that this page agrees with the restaurant agreement about who bears the cost of a refund and of a chargeback. Restaurants must also be told, in that agreement, how refunds are issued: a full refund with "Cancel and refund" on the kitchen board, anything else from their own Stripe dashboard. Delete this paragraph and the banner at the top once that is done.